Office Hours:	By appointment
Campus:	Wycliffe College
Classroom Sessions:	2:00-5:00pm Thursdays during Winter term, 2017
○ First class:	5 th January, 2017
○ Reading week:	20-24 th February
○ Last class:	30 th March
○ Exam week:	5-13 th April

II. Course Summary

This course provides an overview and introduction to the global issues, powers and players at the heart of international development. As an overview to the macro features, challenges and practices of the world of humanitarian and development aid, the course helps students build a platform for understanding the field's numerous dimensions and complexity. History, worldviews, approaches and actors are explored across the international development spectrum, as are the patterns and lenses of several Christian perspectives. Understanding is built around the nature and dynamics of poverty and power, and their relationships to the spectrum of development approaches and practices, along with the roles of international agencies, governments, and civil society players in working with the marginalized and vulnerable. Students engage in the sectoral, technical and thematic challenges faced by development organizations in a range of settings.

Key features of the course include:

- Overview of the world of development research and studies
- Worldviews, meanings and values in international development

- Reviewing the history of contemporary international development
- The Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs)
- The macro state of human development: UNDP HDR, World Bank Development Report
- Poverty, inequality, development – definitions, causes, perspectives
- Ecology and sustainability, and the crisis of climate change
- Human migration and the refugee crisis
- Understanding the development spectrum: theories and practices
- Mainstream, alternative, biblical approaches
- Global, state, private and civil society actors
- Multilateral actors: UN Conventions, CRC, IFIs-SAPs, debt

III. Learning Outcomes

By the end of the course, students will be able to:

1. Demonstrate knowledge of the main theories, actors, approaches and issues in poverty and international development studies.
2. Assess, analyse and facilitate classroom exercises on international development's historical, political, economic, environmental and social opportunities, challenges and tensions, using SDGs, problem scenarios and case studies.
3. Demonstrate awareness of a range of technical sectors and themes which cross-cut development contexts and settings.
4. Appreciate the personal and organizational knowledge and competencies required for effective engagement in poverty and development programming by development organizations and workers.
5. Identify, research, produce and communicate an evidence-based investigative paper on a chosen research question in the field of international development.

The course is built around a range of adult and community learning methodologies:

interactive discussions, workshop exercises, problem scenarios, simulations, research, participatory activities, multi-media, mini-projects, readings, personal journals, external events, visiting experts and lectures.

Date/Deadline	Assignment
Each classroom session	1. Each student: read assigned weekly readings, and come to each class prepared to discuss: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> ○ Most significant issues from the readings ○ Key questions, challenges, implications from the readings

Date/Deadline	Assignment
Each classroom session	2. Students facilitate sessions on readings and themes (15%).
2 nd February	3. Annotated bibliography on your chosen term topic and research question (5%)
9 th February	4. SDG student team case study and presentations (10%).
16 th February	5. 1-page term project proposal (5%)
23 rd March	6. Student public marketplace session (15%)
10 th April	7. Final term paper (30%)

Further details:

Two presentations by each student (25%).

- ✓ Students facilitate at least one classroom session on weekly readings (15%).
Students will construct a session following a planning format and will facilitate a 45-minute adult learning event around the readings assigned for that week.
- ✓ Sustainable Development Goals: student team case study and presentation (10%).
Each student group takes responsibility for a section of the SDGs. Each group will:
 - research, compile data and prepare a 1-page global summary of their section of the SDGs
 - research, compile relevant data and prepare a 1-page summary of their SDGs within the case study countries Haiti and the Dominican Republic
 - develop learning objectives and 60-min session plan, including:
 - 10 min on key discoveries for each assigned SDG
 - 30 min participatory exercises on the team's SDGs applied to case study.

The overall objective is to help the entire class to engage, learn and analyse at a deeper level the content and issues of the critically important SDG, globally, and specifically as they are applied to the two countries of the case study. On the basis of their learning goals for the session, students will choose from a range of adult learning and facilitation approaches and tools (e.g., develop a simulation, create and host a debate, stage a role play, host a development café). Each student group-led session will also be peer reviewed.

Participation (20%). Punctual attendance and full participation is essential in all classroom sessions and scheduled events. Participation assumes evidence of thorough engagement with assignments and readings, evidence of exploration into arising issues, full engagement in classroom learning events and activities, and completion of in-class, extra-class and online assignments. A variety of participatory learning technologies will be explored and employed together by instructor and students.

Final project (total 55%).

- ✓ Initial annotated bibliography 5%
- ✓ project proposal & revised bibliography 5%
- ✓ Marketplace 15%
- ✓ Final paper 30%

Choosing from a list of provided topics and themes specific to this course, each student will develop a specific research question within that theme for investigation. They will then propose, outline, research and write an evidence-based research paper on that research questions as their term project. The proposed research question and outline for the final project will be established in consultation with the instructor, submitted to the class and marketplace for peer review and comments, and finalized for grading. Students will justify their choice of topic and research question, and outline their methods. Final projects are 4000 words. Innovative alternatives to this research paper can be discussed and agreed with the professor. Further guidelines will be discussed in class.

✓ Initial annotated bibliography (5%). Due 2nd February.

Students will develop an initial draft bibliography for their chosen term project, identifying at least 10 academic-quality resources specific to their research question investigation. Students will also identify at least three rejected resources, and explain in what way each did not meet criteria for research. Each resource will be described in an annotation which summarizes its content and methods, and describes its relevance to the project topic, within a few sentences. This bibliography will be revised as research is undertaken, and the topic developed further, and the research question refined. Note that you will need to read initial resources around your intended research question in order to annotate an initial bibliography.

✓ Proposal for research paper, with revised bibliography (5%). Deadline: 16th February.

A one-page proposal, plus revised bibliography. Note that you will need to continue reading around your intended research question in order to develop a solid proposal, and revise your bibliography. Project proposals should:

- 1) Identify your topic, and carefully articulate your specific research question or hypothesis: develop a clear, defined, edgy research question.
- 2) Delineate your rationale for choosing this topic, and its link to the course's categories, themes (what does it add to our understanding of how we pursue international development).
- 3) List your learning outcomes for the paper.
- 4) Outline your methodology, approach, format
- 5) Include a revision of your possible bibliography and resources

✓ Student marketplace presentations (15%): 23rd March

Students and the class will jointly host a marketplace of development ideas open to all Wycliffe students, faculty and others. In the marketplace each student will present the current status of their final project, using a market-style kiosk. Each student will prepare and facilitate a 20-30-minute session for this "marketplace of development ideas", including peer-to-peer discussions and review of the most recent draft of their final project. Adult learning principles (e.g., verbal, visual, kinaesthetic) and innovation will guide these marketplace sessions.

✓ Final paper (30%). Deadline: end of Monday, 10th April, 2017.

V. Required Texts for Winter, 2017

(Lists of weekly readings will be posted)

Required reading lists will be posted from these required course textbooks. Required reading assignments will also be identified and posted on the BlackBoard course site as .pdf files or as links to be downloaded from the library and other online sources. Required pre-readings may also be requested by guest speakers throughout the term.

Required textbooks:

Haslam, Paul, Jessica Schafer and Pierre Beaudet, Introduction to International Development: Approaches, Actors and Issues. Second edition. Oxford, 2012.

Myers, Bryant. Walking with the Poor: Principles and Practices of Transformational Development. Revised and expanded edition. Maryknoll: Orbis, 2011.

Website

As with all Wycliffe courses, this course has a private BlackBoard website that is accessible to registered students through the "Portal" on the University of Toronto home page (<http://www.utoronto.ca>) or directly at <http://portal.utoronto.ca>. The website will function as a home for course materials, readings, online exchanges, additional notices and resources, and other pieces of information.

VII. Guidelines and Policies on Assignment Extensions & Academic Integrity

Academic research and writing. For helpful advice on academic research and writing see <http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice>.

Accessibility. Students with a disability or health consideration are entitled to accommodation. Students must register at the University of Toronto's Accessibility Services offices; information is available at <http://www.accessibility.utoronto.ca/>. The sooner a student seeks accommodation, the quicker we can assist.

Plagiarism. Students submitting written material in courses are expected to provide full documentation for sources of both words and ideas in footnotes or endnotes. Direct quotations should be placed within quotation marks. (If small changes are made in the quotation, they should be indicated by appropriate punctuation such as brackets and ellipses, but the quotation still counts as a direct quotation.) Failure to document borrowed material constitutes plagiarism, which is a serious breach of academic, professional, and Christian ethics.

An instructor who discovers evidence of student plagiarism is not permitted to deal with the situation individually but is required to report it to his or her head of college or delegate according to the TST Basic Degree Handbook (linked from <http://www.tst.edu/content/handbooks>) and the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters <http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/AssetFactory.aspx?did=4871>. Students are assumed to have read the document "Avoidance of plagiarism in theological writing" published by the Graham Library of Trinity and Wycliffe Colleges (http://www.trinity.utoronto.ca/Library_Archives/Theological_Resources/Tools/Guides/plag.htm).

Normally, students will be required to submit their course essays to Turnitin.com for a review of textual similarity and detection of possible plagiarism. In doing so, students will allow their essays to be included as source documents in the Turnitin.com reference database, where they will be used solely for the purpose of detecting plagiarism. The terms that apply to the University's use of the Turnitin.com service are described on the Turnitin.com web site.

Other academic offences. TST students come under the jurisdiction of the University of Toronto Code of Behaviour on Academic Matters <http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/behaveac.htm>).

Late Assignments and Grading.

Students are expected to complete all course work by the posted deadlines. Under exceptional circumstances, with the written permission of the instructor, students may request an official extension (SDF = "standing deferred") beyond the end of term. An extension, when offered, will have a mutually agreed upon deadline that does not extend beyond the conclusion of the following term. An SDF must be requested no later than two weeks before the completion of the term in which the course is taken. The request form is available on the college website or from the Registrar's office.

During the course, beginning on the day after any due date, one percentage point per day will be deducted from any assignment submitted late without permission. At the end of the course, one percentage point per day will be deducted from the overall course grade if an SDF extension has not been requested before the stated deadline.

Course grades. Consistent with the policy of the University of Toronto, course grades submitted by an instructor are reviewed by a committee of the instructor's college before being posted. Course grades may be adjusted where they do not comply with University grading policy (<http://www.governingcouncil.utoronto.ca/policies/grading.htm>) or TST and Wycliffe College's grading policy.

TST Grading scale

Letter Grade	Numerical Equivalents	Grade Point	Grasp of Subject Matter	Other qualities expected of students
A RANGE: Excellent: Student shows original thinking, analytic and synthetic ability, critical evaluations, and broad knowledge base.
A+	90-100	4.0	Profound and Creative	Strong evidence of original thought, of analytic and synthetic ability; sound and penetrating critical evaluations which identify assumptions of those they study as well as their own; mastery of an extensive knowledge base
A	85-89	4.0	Outstanding
A-	80-84	3.7	Excellent	Clear evidence of original thinking, of analytic and synthetic ability; sound critical evaluations; broad knowledge
B RANGE: Good: Student shows critical capacity and analytic ability, understanding of relevant issues, familiarity with the literature.
B+	77-79	3.3	Very Good	Good critical capacity and analytic ability; reasonable understanding of relevant issues; good familiarity with
B	73-76	3.0	Good
B-	70-72	2.7	Satisfactory at a post- baccalaureate level.	Adequate critical capacity and analytic ability; some understanding of relevant issues; some familiarity with the literature
FZ	0-69	0	Failure	Failure to meet the above criteria

Please see the appropriate handbook for more details about the grading scale and non-numerical grades (e.g. SDF, INC, etc).

Integrity, Content, Format

- New readings. The readings undertaken for this course must be from materials that are new to the student. New material is material students have not read prior to this course. If students have already read any of the required readings for this course substitute readings can be negotiated with the instructor.
- New work. The assignments submitted for this course must be new material. New material for assignments is material students have not submitted for course assignments prior to this course. If students want to build on previous work undertaken for other courses, they must negotiate this with the instructor, so that their submitted assignments are new in substance and intent.
- Written assignments will follow the style and format guidelines provided by the Univ. of Toronto (as set out in the Chicago Manual of Style, 15th edition, and its student version, Turabian's Manual for Writers, 7th edition). See <http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice/using-sources/documentation>. See the “Quick Guide” to this style at http://www.press.uchicago.edu/books/turabian/turabian_citationguide.html. Include complete documentation (either footnotes or endnotes) for all published material used. Cite directly all sources relied on, whether quoted directly, paraphrased or summarized.
- Terms relating to sex and gender will follow the TST writing guidelines. See chapter 14 “Elimination of Stereotyping in Written Communication” in The Canadian Style: Guide to Writing and Editing (Toronto: Dundurn Press, 2008) for a helpful guide to the avoidance of stereotyping on sexual, racial or ethnic grounds and to the “fair and representative depiction of people with disabilities.” See also the guidelines for unbiased language on the University website (go to <http://www.writing.utoronto.ca/advice> and follow the links). TST supports the policy of inclusive language and urges the use of inclusive language in all academic assignments.
